"CitizensVote provides a forum for citizens to listen to and participate in Q & A with sitting elected officials and those candidating for elected office.
"CitizensVote does not endorse candidates, believing each voter should research, evaluate and pray over his/ her ballot."

Bob Winegardner is a Republican Committeeman in the Elanco District of the Republican Committee of Lancaster County. In the last 15 years he has worked with 7 different political campaigns for various offices. He was the campaign chairman for 4 of those campaigns and helped win 6 of the campaigns.

He was co-chairman of the RCLC Senior Coalition for 4 years.

His goal is to help those who want to serve the public by holding a public office to understand the process of running for an office within the guidelines of the political parties.

Donna Ellingsen was born in Guyana, South America, and lived in Venezuela before legally immigrating to the U.S.A. and becoming a citizen. As such, she is intimately acquainted with the issues surrounding immigration and the inherent dangers of Socialism. Having experienced first-hand the chaos and failure of socialist economies where the Governments control business, industry, banks, communications and all aspects of life, Donna got involved in local Chester County GOP politics in 2009, dedicated to supporting candidates of great principle and high moral integrity.

Donna has run for Township Committeewoman every 2 years since 2010, successfully combatting several attempts by the GOP Establishment to remove her from Committee despite overwhelmingly favorable election wins. She was elected as Area Chair for the Oxford Area 19 Committee (April 2017 to August 2019), successfully running four school board candidates to victory, including a write-in at-large candidate over nine precincts, and convincingly winning every Republican race by greater than 2 to 1, in November 2019 in her Elk Township precinct. Donna stepped away from the Area Chair position in August 2019 to focus on political issues covering all of Chester County.

She pledged unabashed support for President Donald J. Trump in 2020 and beyond, so in 2020 Donna ran for one of the three positions of Delegate to the Republican National Convention in the 6th Congressional District covering Chester & Berks Counties. In spite of concerted and unwarranted attacks against her by members of the Establishment GOP, she won her seat by a very convincing margin, and cast her vote for President Donald Trump
